When it comes to homes, Alexa Knight has experience in all areas of the industry. Moving a lot as a child, real estate interested her because she continually envisioned the comfort and security that goes hand in hand with a place to call home. "I would draw designs of my dream home as I grew older," Knight says, "always wanting to find the perfect design for a place to plant roots and call home."

Starting off in the mortgage business as a loan officer, Alexa moved into commercial real estate, appraisal and property tax work, where she eventually found her niche working with her husband, Mike, an established developer who owned his own home building company. "As a team with my husband, I feel we have developed a well rounded real estate company," Alexa says. "With our combined 60+ years of experience in lending, appraising, title company work, residential land development, home marketing and the designing and building of custom homes, we can offer advice and support on many levels for our customers, in both existing and new home sales."

Alexa has spent time overseas and lived in Africa for the majority of her teen years. She finished high school in Santa Fe, attended UNM and has called New Mexico home for 30 years. Her experiences abroad have helped her understanding of many cultures and international traditions. "Having traveled a lot as a child, I am very tolerant of the differences of individuals and am able to adapt to the varied needs of our clients," she says.

A Certified Green Professional, Knight keeps herself in the know by reading real estate and custom home building trade journals, attending design/build seminars relating to current trends, lifestyle changes, energy efficient living and innovative building practices, as well as networking on Twitter @LeeMichaelHomes and Facebook. She is also a member of the Elite 25, the Home Builders Association of NM, the Remodelers Council of NM, the Better Business Bureau, and is a multiple award winner in custom design and home building.
